

Disclaimer

The American Professional Society of ADHD and Related Disorders (APSARD) Ask the Experts Webinar is intended to provide educational information to clinicians and researchers.

This webinar does not provide medical advice. No two clinical cases are exactly alike. The information provided about cases on this webinar are illustrative and may not be applicable to any specific case.

The content of this webinar, such as graphics, images, text and all other materials, is provided for reference and educational purposes only. The content is not meant to be complete or exhaustive or to be applicable to any specific individual's medical condition.

APSARD assumes no duty to correct or update the webinar nor to resolve or clarify any inconsistent information that might be a part of the webinar. This webinar contains health or medically related materials that can be considered sexually explicit. If you find these materials offensive, do not use this webinar.

This webinar is not an attempt to practice medicine or provide specific medical advice, and it should not be used to make a diagnosis or to replace or overrule a qualified health care provider's judgment. Users should not rely upon this webinar for medical treatment. The content of this webinar is not intended to be a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis or treatment.

Liability

You assume full responsibility for using the information provided during the webinar, and you understand and agree that APSARD is not responsible or liable for any claim, loss or damage resulting from its use by you or any user.

APSARD cannot and does not warrant that access to the webinar will be error- or virus-free and does not guarantee against unauthorized users or hackers attempting to obtain access to this website.

Copyright

All copyrightable text, graphics, design, selection and arrangement of information in this webinar are copyrighted by APSARD unless otherwise noted.