About

APSARD

THE MISSION

As a multi-disciplinary, professional organization, the American Professional Society of ADHD and Related Disorders' goal is to improve outcomes for individuals with ADHD and their families by promoting research throughout the lifespan on ADHD and disseminating evidence-based practices and education.

Led by a diverse Board consisting of global experts in fields such as psychiatry, epidemiology, ethics, coaching, psychology, advanced-practice nursing, and pediatrics, APSARD's goal is to work with ADHD patient organizations to heighten the public's understanding of ADHD to reduce stigma and further promote effective dialogue between healthcare professionals and patients.

OUR GOALS

- Advance and disseminate the research base in ADHD and promote the translation of the findings for clinical practice.
- Expand opportunities for engagement and professional enhancement with APSARD.
- Understand and address the needs of the communities related to ADHD.
- Strengthen the standing of APSARD as a leading and respected voice in ADHD.

THE VISION

Improving the lives of people with ADHD.

HEALTH EQUITY SCHOLAR SPONSOR: $10K

3 A V A I L A B L E

There are important ongoing dialogues in our country and worldwide regarding healthcare inequities created by racism as well as differential treatment of individuals from multiple, often intersecting, minoritized identities (e.g., LGBTQIA+, individuals with disabilities and those who have disproportionately poor access to care such as rural residents). APSARD wants to open sponsorship opportunities to researchers and practitioners at all levels who focus their work on individuals with minoritized identities. Each sponsorship will support five scholars in this field.

Sponsors will receive:

- Email acknowledgement of awardees and sponsorship to conference attendees
- (2) complimentary registrations for company representative to the APSARD Meeting
- Acknowledgement through company logo in program book

Scholars will receive:

- Complimentary APSARD Membership for 2024
- Complimentary registration for the 2024 conference
- A $1,000 honorarium
